American Fliers Hop From Japan With U. S. Goal

Pangborn and Herndon Leave Samushiro Beach on 4,465-Mile Jaunt to Seattle.

$25,000 PRIZE IS OFFERED BY PAPER

Drop Landing Gear, and Carry No Radio; to Reach Coast Monday Evening.

Nemuro, Japan, Oct. 4 (Sunday) (AP).—Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, Jr., who are attempting a non-stop flight from Japan to the United States, were sighted here at 9:40 a. m. today 7:40 p. m. Saturday, E. S. T., flying at a height of about 3,000 feet.

Nemuro is about 250 miles northeast of Samushiro Beach, starting point of the flight. Pangborn and Herndon left Samushiro at 7:01 a. m. today (5:01 p. m. Saturday E. S. T.).

Interplop Fliers Off. Samushiro, Japan, Oct. 4 (AP).—Two daring American aviators, Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, took their plane into the air here today at 7:01 a. m. (5:01 p. m. Saturday E. S. T.) in an effort to fly non-stop across the Pacific ocean to Seattle, Wash., and perhaps to Salt Lake City, Utah.

Before taking their heavily loaded plane off the long sandy beach runway, the fliers read a forecast of considerable cloudiness, occasional rain, and strong shifting winds. Such weather was predicted along the Aleutian Islands of Alaska, which the Americans hope to reach after passing over the frequently storm shrouded Kurile Islands of Japan.

Miss. Farmers Endorse Long's No-Cotton Plan

Mass Meeting at Jackson Would Favor the Passing of Both Plans, Using Best.

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 3 (AP).—Mississippi legislators will return from week-end adjournment Monday to find a farmer-adjournment resolution urging passage of cotton relief legislation in the form of cotton crop abolition in 1932.

The resolution was approved at a called state-wide mass meeting of farmers here today in the hall of the house of representatives in the face of approval already having been given the senate to an alternate plan for acreage reduction and a house committee's recommendation for passage of the senate proposition.

W. K. Henderson, Shreveport radio station owner, and a Louisiana delegation of proponents of the Long no-cotton plan, were instrumental in calling the state-wide assembly of farmers in order to get their reaction to this proposal. Many farmers were said to have been prevented from coming to Jackson for the meeting because of strained financial conditions.

Approximately 600 farmers and other interested persons attended the meeting over which Sweb Taylor, former mayor of Jackson, presided. By unanimous vote the body approved the resolution requesting and memorializing the legislature to enact a law seeking to prevent planting of a 1932 crop as was recently enacted by Louisiana.

School Boy Lost in Swamp Is Found Safe

Slidell, La., Oct. 3 (AP).—Robert Williams, 11-year-old high school student of Slidell, who had been lost in Honey Island swamp since Friday morning at 7 o'clock, was found late today and was brought to safety.

Williams became separated from a group of friends with whom he was hunting, and wandered deep into the woods. An experienced woodsman found him. The boy was unharmed.

Wisconsin Progressive Leads in Senate Race

Racine, Wis., Oct. 3 (AP).—Thomas R. Amlie, progressive Republican, took the lead over State Senator George Blanchard, conservative Republican, in the first Wisconsin district primary on returns from 158 of the 200 precincts. The returns gave Amlie 9,210 and Blanchard 8,537.

W. I. Clark Enters Race for Governor

Former Resident of West Baton Rouge Announces Entry Against Field of Five.

LEBLANC WILL TALK NEAR HERE

Guion Makes Trip Through Felicianas; Dr. Cyr Prepares for Filing His Ouster.

William Lobdell Clark, Jr., New Orleans cotton factor, announced Saturday that he would be a candidate for governor in the Democratic primary of January 19, against a field of four already running.

Mr. Clark, a native of West Baton Rouge parish, is well known to the older residents of this section. Mr. Clark said yesterday that should the Louisiana no-crop plan fall in the Louisjank no-crop cotton sufficiently to get rid of the surplus he had another plan he was confident would succeed.

Mr. Clark entered the race for mayor of New Orleans in 1920, when Andrew McShane was elected over Martin Behrman. Mr. Clark was running as an independent candidate at that time, but withdrew before the actual vote on advice of his friends.

Committee to Meet Tuesday. The state Democratic State Central committee will meet in New Orleans at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning for the purpose of formally setting the date for the primary as yet in the air and for setting the date for entries in the contests for state offices to close on October 28 at midnight.

A movement is afoot to repeal the Pilsbury resolution adopted by the committee on June 4, 1929. (Continued on Page 2)

Japanese Planes Shell Chinese Fort at Mukden

Troops Follow up Bombardment to Occupy Manchurian City of Newchwang.

Shanghai, Oct. 3 (AP).—The bombing of a Chinese concentration northeast of Mukden, Manchurian Capital City, by Japanese army planes, and the occupation by Japanese troops of Newchwang, were reported today by both Japanese and Chinese news sources.

The dispatches agreed on the contention of Chinese official circles that Japan is not loosening her grip on Southern Manchuria.

Reuter News agency said 80 bombs were dropped on Chinese barracks at Pailshan-Chengste, about 100 miles from Mukden. Mukden has ceased to be the official capital since its occupation by Japanese forces sent there for the announced purpose of protecting Japanese lives and investments in the South Manchurian railway and other properties.

Chinese news sources said the men bombed were Chinese soldiers. Japanese news sources called them bandits. Reuters referred to them as "Chinese Troops" numbering 6,000, and said there were 200 casualties.

The bombing apparently was in retaliation for the recent shooting down of a Japanese military plane.

Wing Way Across Pacific

Hugh Herndon, Jr. (left) and Clyde Pangborn are shown in the cockpit of their Bellanca monoplane while they were preparing to take off from Samushiro beach in Japan on a 4,465-mile hop across the Pacific ocean to Seattle, Wash., and the good old U. S. A. They are competing for a $25,000 prize offered by the Tokyo newspaper, The Asahi, for the first non-stop flight from Japan to the United States.

Fans Taste Rain and Not Sun as Louisiana State Launches Night Football

Modern System Installed Which Changes the Pigskin Sport to a Nocturnal Spectacle.

(By ORENE SIMMONS) Gone are yesterday's football scenes. And, replacing them, is a modern system which has brought Louisiana State university up to the minute, and, perhaps, a little beyond. Where yesterday fans bolted in a greuling sun as they watched two teams at play, today's fans have a taste of moonlight—and rain.

Last night saw the launching of night football in college circles on the L. S. U. gridiron when the fierce Tigers met the timid Badgers in a spectacular home game. From start to finish, it was different from the football games that Baton Rouge has seen on this same field. Perhaps the difference in atmosphere counted for something.

Bright purple jerseys on which were white numerals, so white they seemed almost to shout, told the fans that these were the tads (Continued on Page 13-A.)

Capone Emerges into Limelight Again Tuesday

Gang Czar Will Enter Court to Settle a Few of His Differences with Uncle Sam.

By OLIVER SHERWOOD Special Correspondent Morning Advocate (Copyright) Chicago, Oct. 3.—Al Capone, gang czar, emerges into the limelight again Tuesday when he enters court to settle a few of his differences with Uncle Sam.

This time he is unaware of the outcome of his legal life. He has no advance agreement concerning the punishment to be meted out if he loses. Whether the winner on this count or not, he still faces other charges, involving alleged violations of the liquor laws—laws which he gladly admits breaking.

Judge James M. Wilkerson again will be master of ceremonies. Federal Judge Wilkerson, unraveled by the redoubtable Al, sponsored the deal by which the gangster traded a possible 33-year sentence for a three-year sentence, and plea of guilty. That agreement had been worked out in July by the federal district attorney with the approval of the United States attorney general. Now Capone stakes his chance with a federal jury.

And the scarfed hoodlum is not especially sanguine about his future. The federal income tax law under which he will be tried first is one of the few statutes which places upon defendant the burden of proof of innocence. Besides, all technicalities of procedure have been upheld by the federal circuit court of appeals in the case of Ralph Capone, Al's older brother, under sentences to three years in prison. Ten days of testimony are in sight, according to government prosecutors, who are in possession of evidence gathered over a period of years at a cost of over $100,000.

The indications are that conviction would place Capone out of circulation for some considerable time. Jake Guzik, his general (Continued on Page 2)

Fire Destroys House and Damages Second

Fire last night destroyed the residence of George Curry, 314 South Eleventh street, and damaged the adjoining house, occupied by Ben A. Washburn.

Five fire engines answered a fire call which was made into a general alarm. The flames destroyed the Curry residence and spread to the Washburn house, causing damage to the side of the building.

The fire call was placed at 10:16 p. m. and was answered by Fire Engines 1, 2 and 3, Aerial 1 and Chemical 1. When the fire occurred, occupants of the Curry home and the Washburn residence were away. The fire was noticed by residents in the block who called the fire station.

Roosevelt's Opposition is Growing

First Signs of Any Dislike Appear in Favorite Son States and Wet East.

MOVEMENT LACKS ANY LEADERSHIP

South Receives Democratic Candidate for Presidency with Open Arms.

By GEORGE VAN SLYKE

Special Correspondent Morning Advocate (Copyright) New York, Oct. 3.—The first signs of definite opposition to Franklin D. Roosevelt, Governor of New York, as the majority candidate for the democratic nomination for president have begun to appear in the favorite son and wet eastern states, but the movement lacks cohesion of effective leadership. The democratic contest has reached a static condition where it is likely to remain little changed until the preferential primaries get underway early next year.

The significant development on the Democratic side is a new organization of the part of state organizations to await further action before making formal commitments. Those unfriendly to the New York governor have come to realize that they must begin to operate if they hope to head him off, but as yet there has been no positive determination to undertake such a movement.

The Roosevelt view is now seen by his opponents as having reached the maximum strength that it can attain under its own momentum and with its present management. States representing more than one-third of the voting strength of the convention and exercising a veto power over the nomination are now disposed to sit tight until the governor formally (Continued on Page 2)

MacDonald's Idea to Keep Together Britain Is Rapped

Liberals Condemn Plan for Election and Reaffirm Liberal Belief in Free Trade.

London, Oct. 3 (AP).—The Liberals this evening struck a severe blow at Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's prospects of keeping the present national government together in the event of a general election.

A joint meeting of the executive committee of three important Liberal organizations passed a resolution utterly condemning the plan for an election this month, and vigorously re-affirming the Liberal belief in free trade.

The organizations concerned are the National Liberal Federation, the Women's National Liberal Federation and the National League of Young Liberals.

Before the resolution was passed, the meeting was addressed at length by Sir Herbert Samuel, acting Liberal leader and home secretary in the national government.

This action by an important section of the Liberal party emphasized the magnitude of Mr. MacDonald's task in reconciling the differences between his present supporters who include conservatives wanting tariffs and an October election, and Liberals wanting neither.

Four Artists to Appear Here in Concert Season

Success of the membership campaign of the East-Baton Rouge Community Concert association was assured last night when a final check-up was made at city hall.

The executive committee met at the city hall to hear the final reports with Miss Dorothea Fitch, campaign director from the Community Concert Service which sponsored the appearances here of the artists.

Tremendous enthusiasm has been exhibited by Baton Rougeans and corps of workers, states Mrs. L. U. Babin, campaign director. Announcement was made that all Louisiana State university students who had purchased tickets before the university subscribed 1,000 memberships to the concert will be refunded the amount paid for membership into the local association will be refunded the amount paid for membership into the local association by calling at the Bank of Baton Rouge before October 15 and applying to D. I. Cazedessus.

OUTCLASS BADGERS FROM BEGINNING

Spring Hill Manages to Hold Reserves and Varsity to Two Touchdowns to Last Quarter.

By W. I. SPENCER

A wrath-like Irishman named Arthur Foley started galloping over a slippery field in the last quarter of Louisiana State's first night football game last evening to bring to a sparkling close the clash with Springhill's outclassed Badgers. The final score of the contest, witnessed by some 5,000 spectators sitting through a constant drizzle, was 35 to 0, the largest total ever amassed by the Tigers over the Purple and White.

Foley, who dazzled the eyes of the Springhillians far more than did the thousands of watt power in Ole Lou's new lighting system, raced across the Badger goal line three times, reeling off runs of 56 and 62 yards in the last period.

The game had been very disappointing to the L. S. U. fans until those final few minutes. When the best his varsity reserves could do in the first quarter was one touchdown, Coach Russ Cohen sent his regulars into the contest for the rest of the game.

A touchdown was scored in the second period, Joe Alms moky fading back to hurl a 45-yard pass to Walter "Goat" Fleming over the goal line. The first quarter touchdown had resulted from a short lateral pass, Keller to Foley, from the two-yard line, Keller place-kicked the first extra point, and Almsky booted the second one over the bars to make the score 14 to 0 at the half.

Highway Workers to Gather Monday for Instruction

Approximately 115 from Nearly Every Parish Will Attend Eleventh Maintenance School.

A hundred and fifteen road workers from nearly every parish in the state will gather in the old Chemistry building on the old campus of the Louisiana State university at 9 o'clock Monday for the eleventh session of the Louisiana Highway commission maintenance school. It is announced by J. I. Wendt, maintenance engineer of the commission.

The general session will be opened with talks by Mr. Wendt and O. K. Allen, chairman of the Louisiana Highway commission. Those assembling here Monday are to be taught methods of maintaining asphaltic surface treatment highways and several specialists in this are on the program as instructors.

Included among those to make talks are C. M. Baskin of New York, asphalt paving technologist, and Platt Boyd and A. B. Covell, construction engineers of the highway commission.

The day's school closes Monday evening with motion pictures and general discussions on low cost road surfaces.

Tug Tows Disabled Ship to Charleston

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 3 (AP).—A towing tug steamed southward from here late today to the assistance of the Clyde line freighter Medina, crippled by a broken tail shaft, and now in tow of a sister ship, the Brazos off Palm Beach.

The tug will tow the Medina to Charleston, S. C., for repairs. Clyde line officials here said. The Medina is in no danger, officials reported, the ship is engaged in New York - Galveston service.

Returns from Shopping to Find Husband Dead. Hattiesburg, Miss., Oct. 3 (AP).—After returning from a shopping tour with her daughter today, Mrs. E. H. Thomasson found the body of her husband, fully clothed, lying on the floor of their bedroom. Officers said that Mr. Thomasson had committed suicide. A pistol was found near the body. Mr. Thomasson was 47 years of age. He was for many years a well-known resident of Hattiesburg. His family members said he had been in ill health and despondent.
