Ok. I am reading the WP article now.

Tue, Sep 14, 11:13 AM

The DOJ announcement is a positive development; More reason to embrace a patterns & practices investigation...and down the road, likely some $ & other resource support through some new DOJ programs in development

Thu, Sep 16, 11:08 AM

I'm going back to listen to the governor's entire radio appearance yesterday; to be honest, the pull quotes reported are most counterproductive.

I have not heard the interview but I think he was talking the release of the videos. The feds asked that the videos not be released.

I understand; unfortunately most others will not

It's just not at all credible for the governor to say: "the coverup part of it..much of that is overblown or just false..."

(That bit won't age well - at all)

Nor is it credible for the governor to suggest that the unpredictable biked, merciless beating Ronald Green suffered before he was dragged handcuffed, face down across the highway was bit a contributing cause of Mr Greene's death. (That one will go ripe and Randy soon too)

Thu, Sep 16, 7:44 PM

I know there is a lot going on, but I'm still disappointed the governor didn't have a better, more thoughtful response . . .
